

Matta Services

Information security is a perpetually growing market. As the complexity and frequency of attacks increase, your customers need advice on how to prevent their company being the next headline disaster. Matta can provide you with a framework of services that are complementary and can be applied to any organisations' requirements.

Matta's services include:

- External and internal penetration testing
- PCI compliant testing
- Managed VA services
- Web application testing
- Web application security monitoring
- Code review
- Database audits
- Incident response
- Server Forensic Audit
- Tigerscheme Accredited Training

Matta provides an engagement process you can rely on to ensure the right services are scoped. It is not enough to have a list of services, but it is the way we package and deliver those services with an understanding of your business drivers. This is what sets our services apart from our competitors.

We recognise that you're engaging with a security partner for the future, and as such, Matta can help you to create a lifecycle process for each natural engagement model based on your business drivers and risk appetite. This ongoing management and single point of order means you can trust us to deliver an on going range of security services that meet your needs today and in to the future.

Defining a full project lifecycle at the outset delivers these benefits:

- Communicates the value of your proposition over your competitors
- Maximises the potential value of the project
- Helps the customer define their total budget requirement

TIGERScheme

We understand that trust is critical on your projects. Matta consultants are all trained and experienced to a high standard, and own Senior Tester accreditations with Tigerscheme - an independent organisation which tests and runs accreditation schemes for Penetration Testers internationally.

"I'd like to just say how impressed by your representative we were. He was very knowledgeable about wireless and network security and filled us with confidence. We were also pleased that when he'd done all he could on the wireless, he actively sought out other ways to improve the security of our wired network." - Hayden Wells, St Clements Insurance. - Just one of many unsolicited endorsements we receive.
